Youth at the Crossroads: Where Alcohol use Intersects with Dating and Sexual Violence

It has often been said that there is a link between alcohol use/abuse and increasing incidences of violence. This presentation will address this issue with current information that looks critically at debunking some of the myths associated with underage drinking and addressing the realities that face youth and our communities.

Learning Objectives:

At the conclusion of this workshop, participants will be able to

1. Recognize the incidence of alcohol-related violence in society
2. Identify the risk factors for youth
3. Identify individual and social beliefs that support the misuse of alcohol and the “culture of violence
4. Identify at least 2 prevention and/or intervention strategies in developing a coordinated community response to this issue
